

MAYO AGAIN STATES FORD INTENDS TO MAKE CHEAP FERTILIZER FOR AMERICAN FARMERS

"FORD HAS MADE A FAIR OFFER, TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT" SAYS MAYO TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Hearings on Henry Ford's offer to lease Muscle Shoals, will open before the senate agricultural committee Thursday it was announced today by Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, the committee chairman.

A delegation from Tennessee, escorted by Senator Shields, Democrat, of Tennessee, will then appear before the committee to urge acceptance of Ford's offer. The committee is extending an invitation to all interested persons to appear before it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The proposals of Frederick Engstrom, North Carolina shipbuilder, to take over the Muscle Shoals, Ala., nitrate plant and power plant project will be outlined in detail tomorrow to Secretary of War Weeks it was announced today.

The offer, after being explained by Engstrom, will be reduced to writing and submitted to congress as was the case with the Ford offer, Secretary Weeks said today.

C. C. Tinkler, of San Francisco, who also made a tentative offer for the Muscle Shoals property several weeks ago, only to withdraw it for modifications suggested by Secretary Weeks after a conference, has not been heard from since, war department officials stated. They expressed surprise over Tinkler's silence in the matter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—W. B. Mayo, chief of engineers for Henry Ford, resumed testimony today before the house military affairs committee under a cross fire of questions designed "to find out where the government is going to get off if it accepts Ford's Muscle Shoals offer."

Representative Miller, of Washington, interrogated the witness. Under an avalanche of questions he obtained from Ford's spokesman the admission:

1. That the government in the sixth year following completion of Dams Number 2 and 3 will pay $3,600,000 in interest charges more than Ford will pay in interest.

2. That Ford's present offer to develop the property "is the best he can make."

Miller declared that the government will "be out" $1,600,000 in interest charges in two years that it is estimated it will take to complete Dam Number 3 and complete Dam Number 2, following which Ford's contract would really become effective.

Mayo was questioned at length on rates of horsepower, primary and secondary, and to what use Ford expects to put horsepower developed. Mayo declared that Ford intends to use all the horsepower. Representative Fields of Kentucky obtained from Mayo the declaration that Ford intends to supply power at cost to the fertilizer production plant and to any other industry he may establish at Muscle Shoals.

Fields asked the witness for a statement of Ford's intentions should congress accept his bid. "Mr. Ford intends to make fertilizer so cheap that the farmer can use any quantity of fertilizer that he may need. He hopes to be able to make raw materials at a lower price for automobiles and tractors and thus reduce their cost. That has been his dream for some years past," replied Mayo.

In answer to further questions, Mayo made the flat statement that "Mr. Ford will not consider leasing this property on a 50-year term."

Reduction from 100 to 50 years as the term for leasing the property had been suggested to the committee by Secretary of War Weeks.

"Mr. Ford has made a fair offer. He has made the best one he can and you will have to take it or leave it at its face value," Mayo declared.

Much of the questioning by committee members was declared by Representative

RESTRICTIONS ON COTTON FUTURES MAY BE EXTENDED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Further restrictions on futures operations on cotton exchanges were opposed today before the house agricultural committee by a delegation of cotton dealers.

The committee is considering a bill by Senator Dial, South Carolina, designed to limit the spread of price quotations between spot and future cotton and another by Representative Parks which would destroy the futures market and dealings.

COMMITTEES TO WORK WEDNESDAY

Final plans have been made for the opening of the campaign to raise funds in the Twin Cities to insure a berth in the Alabama-Tennessee league this year. Three thousand dollars is the goal set by the committees, which starts active work Wednesday morning under the direction of Rev. W. P. Wilks, general chairman.

The committees will finish their campaign Monday and Monday night there will be a check-up at a meeting to be held either in the rooms of the Albany chamber of commerce or in the rooms of the directors of the Central National bank. President Chas. Rountree stated today that the plan of meeting will be made public later.

Rev. Wilks declared today that it would not be necessary for subscribers to stock to pay the full amount of their subscription in cash. "We will take notes from those who do not care to pay the full amount of their subscription in cash," he said. "We expect the notes to mature early this spring, in order that we may have sufficient money to settle all indebtedness and start the new season with money in the treasury to pay all preliminary expenses."

Representative Quinn, of Mississippi, to be simply milling around and just gutter fishing.

He asserted that most of the queries directed to Mayo were "a waste of time" and that it was apparent some of the members were attempting to write into the Ford contract "things that were not there."

"We have great respect for Ford in my part of the country. The farmers down there call him 'Uncle Henry' and they believe he will produce cheap fertilizer. Instead of having in those woods down there tall trees for the wind to whistle through, Ford proposes to have smokestacks and furnish employment to thousands of men. Why with the products that can come from that Muscle Shoals property, fertilizer may become a waste and Ford can give it away to the farmers for nothing," said Quinn.

"BLESSED BABY" LETTERS RETURNED TO MISS NORMAND

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—The "blessed baby" letters have been returned to their author, Mabel Normand, famous screen artist, last person to see William Desmond Taylor alive, admitted in an interview today that the letters she had written the slain screen director, which have been in possession of the district attorney, have been returned to her.

The return of the letters was almost as mysterious as their sensational discovery. The letters were missing from the Taylor bungalow the day after the murder and three days later were found in an old hunting boot of the slain man along with many other letters and telegrams.

Referring to them Miss Normand characterized them as "childish and innocent in tone."

"They are all of such nonsensical nature that they have absolutely no value except as they exhibit and indicate the goodfellowship which existed between Mr. Taylor and myself."

MABEL EXONERATED

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mabel Normand, screen actress, mentioned in the Taylor murder case, has notified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Normand, that she has been completely exonerated by the police. A telegram received by them this afternoon declares that the district attorney and police have absolved her of all responsibility in connection with the crime and that her letters to Taylor have been returned to her.

FEDERAL BOARD TO ADJUST TROUBLES IN MINE INDUSTRY PROVIDED BY BILL

Kenyon Measure Would Avert Threatened Crisis Coming In April

"BASIC PRINCIPLES" ARE EMBODIED IN ACT

Organized And Unorganized Miners Given Protection By Proposed Law

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Control of the coal mining industry of the United States by a tri-partite federal board and establishment of an industrial code for adjustment of disputes between operators and miners were proposed in a bill introduced in the senate by Senator William S. Kenyon, Republican of Iowa.

Sponsors of the measure hope that its passage can be effected within a few weeks to prevent a nation-wide mine strike in April. The board proposed by Kenyon would be known as the national coal mining board and would have nine members, the public, labor and employers being equally represented.

The province of the board will be to avert disruption of operation in the mine fields through disputes between the management and labor, to adjust such disputes and to stabilize such production.

Basic principles recently set forth by Senator Kenyon, in his speech on the West Virginia mine conditions, are embodied in the bill and the board is enjoined to make all decisions upon this basis.

Human standards should be the constraining influence in fixing wages and working conditions for the mine workers it is provided in the bill. Capital also is protected in a clause recognizing its rights "to an adequate return." The bill affirms the right of labor to organize without interference or determination from operators or employers and reasserts the rights of operators and miners to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing.

Unorganized miners are cited as "having the right to work unharassed by fellow workmen belonging to unions," while union men are allowed to enter non-union fields for organization purposes if they do so in an orderly manner.

Senator Kenyon also provided that children under sixteen years shall be prohibited from mine employment. The work week is set at six standard days of eight hours each. Punitive overtime is ordered paid for all hours in excess of the standard day.

Bluebeard's Hope For Mercy Dashed

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 14.—Henri Landru's final hope of escaping the guillotine to which he was condemned for the murder of ten fiancées and a boy perished today when the chief justice of the supreme court of appeals threw out the French bluebeard's request for a new trial.

Counsel for Landru had appealed to President Millerand for executive clemency and to the minister of justice for intervention but it was understood today that both pleas fell upon deaf ears. Landru is expected to die some day next week. He resigned himself to his fate.

EXPOSITION GIVEN IMPETUS AT MEET OF EXHIBITORS AT CIVIC UNIT ROOMS

Committees Named To Complete All Arrangements For The Show

PAIGE POINTS OUT SHOALS ADVANTAGES

Moving Pictures Will Be Shown Of Air Nitrate Process

The Tennessee Valley Industrial Exposition, which is to open its doors in the Twin Cities Saturday morning, received considerable impetus from the meeting held last night at chamber of commerce rooms. Carl D. Patterson presided.

The meeting was called at the instance of exhibitors who have engaged space in the Malone building where the exposition is to be held. As a result of enthusiastic discussion, the following committee was appointed by the chairman to complete arrangements for the big show: For Decatur—Paul Morrison, James H. Johnson and John McGehee; For Albany—H. A. Kelly, H. H. Hunter and John P. Matlock.

The outstanding feature of the evening was an address by James W. Paige, of Chicago, who will manage the exposition. Mr. Paige was, for a number of years, industrial commissioner of the Southern railway, and stated that for five years he had to do with the resources of the South and particularly with those of the Tennessee Valley. This speaker's recital of the wealth in forest and soil and mine in the immediate neighborhood of the Twin Cities was an eye and ear opener. In one part of his address, the speaker said: "Talk about Muscle Shoals—their development means great things, but nothing by comparison to your mineral and forest wealth, once you get these resources properly developed."

Patterson Urges Haste
In opening the meeting Chairman Patterson urged every exhibitor to get his booth in place at the earliest possible moment, and among other reasons for so doing, it was pointed out that plans for the automobile show, which is to be in progress at the same time the exposition is, but on the lower floor, would be necessarily delayed if the merchants and others were not quick about their work.

It was reported that some booths were already in and a number made preliminary arrangements last night to start work on their booths at once. It was suggested that merchants who wished to pool their interests in erecting booths could save some money by so doing.

Mayor E. C. Payne pointed out that the farmers would benefit quite as much by the industrial campaign proposed as anybody, as would also every working man, as well as the merchants and that he thought all hands should join in to make the exposition a great success.

It was announced by Mr. Paige that Mrs. Thomas M. Owen would bring the state's historical exhibit, that the state's mineral exhibit would be on hand with full data showing the resources of the Tennessee Valley. He stated that the general industrial commissioner of the Southern railway, of Washington, would be present for an address, as would other authorities on industrial matters.

It was stated that moving pictures

DUBLIN CONCERNED AT BRITISH ACTION

Revolutionary Move To Overthrow Free State Government Is Feared

(International News Service)

BELFAST, Ireland, Feb. 14.—Two persons were killed in street fighting here this morning, bringing the dead in the city and suburbs up to 17 in the last 48 hours.

A woman and four children were the victims of four clashes between Orangemen and Sinn Feiners. Two heavily armed forces, one of republicans and the other of ultras, are lined up facing each other along the Irish free state line.

Twenty persons were wounded in Belfast throughout the night, several of them policemen who were trying to root snipers. The soldiers are refusing to allow civilians to cross the boundary.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Members of the Irish provisional government at Dublin are taking vigorous measures today to avert a threatened revolutionary outbreak by extremist republicans.

It has been learned that foes of the Dublin government are plotting its overthrow and are conspiring to get control of the Irish republican army. British government officials are watching the Irish situation with anxiety.

There are two momentous possibilities: 1—Revolution within the free state; 2—Civil war between the free state and Ulster.

The news that the British government had cancelled orders for the evacuation of British troops from South Ireland aroused consternation at Dublin.

Harwell Davis Asks 2nd Term

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 14.—Harwell G. Davis, attorney-general of Alabama, Monday afternoon made formal announcement of his candidacy for attorney-general for a full term. He qualified under the corrupt practice act with the secretary of state and under the primary act with the state democratic executive committee. No other person has been mentioned in connection with this race and the general opinion has been that Mr. Davis would succeed himself without opposition. He is completing the unexpired term of J. Q. Smith.

Judge John Parfory, former secretary of state, state treasurer and examiner of public accounts, created surprise by making his announcement for associate member of the public service commission. He filed his declaration with the secretary of state and named himself as the person to handle all campaign funds. Until a few days ago Judge Parfory had been mentioned in connection with the race for secretary of state. He is more than eighty years old and has been in the public service a greater part of his life.

PLANS GO FORWARD FOR BIG AUTO SHOW OF THE MALONE CO.

Plans were going forward rapidly today for the fifth annual automobile show to be given by the Malone Company and Motor company. The show will be staged on the lower floor of the Malone building, the upper floors of which will house the Tennessee Valley Industrial Exposition.

The Malone shows in previous years have drawn thousands of visitors here and have proven highly successful.

An announcement is made by the company that this year will be no disappointment and that many features are being planned for entertainment of the big crowds.

The lower floor of the building will be attractively decorated and a large number of cars are being received here for exhibit. Music will be provided throughout the ten days of the show, which opens Saturday and continues through February 28.

Dollar Sale Is Very Successful

Despite the very inclement sky

crowds are flocking to the Matlock store, attracted by the page advertisement that appeared in The Daily Monday, featuring a dollar day sale. Mr. Matlock has been one of the most liberal users of printers ink since establishing a business at this point, and the Matlock store is well known and enjoys a large patronage.

Many of the advertised articles at this sale show a decided return to pre-war prices.

THE VOICE OF HARDING; BUT THE SENTIMENT OF WILSON.

In his appeal for the ratification of his leagues between nations, as established at the disarmament conference just closed, President Harding, uses much of the same argument and expresses exactly the same sentiment, as did Woodrow Wilson, when he pleaded in vain for the adoption of the one big League of Nations. Mr. Harding goes so far as to refer to the League of Nations in the following language:

"The conception of the League of Nations was a manifest of world hunger."

Perhaps Mr. Harding would have continued and said, had it occurred to him, that his predecessor was the first man who attempted to satisfy the world hunger for peace.

In the following words Mr. Harding distinctly upholds the necessity of—not the old doctrine of "splendid isolation" but that of international co-operation and agreement:

"We can no more do without international negotiations and agreements these modern days than we could maintain orderly neighborliness at home without the prescribed rules of conduct which are more the guarantees of freedom than the restraint thereof."

If Mr. Wilson put that same sentiment, any stronger, it was only because the ex-President knew how to handle the language to a better advantage than does the President.

He says:

I am not unmindful, nor was the conference, of the sentiment in this chamber against Old World entanglements. Those who made the treaties have left no doubt about their true import. Every expression in the conference has emphasized the purpose to be served and the obligations assumed. Therefore, I can bring you every assurance that nothing in any of these treaties commits the United States, or any other power, to any kind of an alliance, entanglement, or involvement. It does not require us or any other power to surrender a worth-while tradition. It has been said, if this be true, these are mere meaningless treaties, and therefore valueless. Let us accept no such doctrine of despair as that. If nations may not establish by mutual understand the rules and principles which are to govern their relationship; if a sovereign and solemn plight of faith by leading nations of the earth is valueless; if nations may not trust one another, then, indeed, there is little on which to hang our faith in advancing civilization or the furtherance of peace. Either we must live and aspire and achieve under a free and common understanding among peoples, with mutual trust, respect and forbearance and exercising full sovereignty or else brutal, armed force will dominate and the sorrows and burdens of war in this decade will be turned to the chaos and hopelessness of the next.

ALABAMA'S RESOURCES.

Roger W. Babson is America's best known statistician. During the past year Mr. Babson's organization spent more money collecting statistics on the nation than did the American government.

Mr. Babson has been in Montgomery several days and was interviewed Sunday by a representative of The Montgomery Advertiser. His conclusions regarding the resources of Alabama carry unusual weight. When he speaks of conditions in this state, he speaks of a subject out of the fullness of his knowledge. Mr. Babson says:

"Alabama today is the best equipped state in the union for great industrial enterprises, climate, waterpower, mineral resources, railroad and port facilities all considered. Alabama, together with the South, has a fine spiritual and religious life which constitutes a far greater factor to success in human endeavor than is generally believed."

Speaking of efficiency, he said that "Henry Ford, you know, employs the cheapest labor in Detroit. He pays the highest wages, but he will not tolerate inefficient labor. There is no place for the inefficient man in the Ford organization and a man has to earn Ford's high wages before he gets it."

FORD'S CITY 75 MILES LONG
WOULD TRANSFORM HISTORIC VALLEY.

Filled with the romantic history of the old South is the Tennessee valley from the bloody battlefield of Shiloh to the towering mountains around Chattanooga, but especially full of historic interest and rich in memory is that part of the valley extending from Sheffield to above Athens. Along this fertile stretch before the civil war were great plantations which in the old days were centers of social activity and homes of aristocratic families, now scattered and in some instances impoverished, their fine old homes long ago sold and cut into smaller farms.

It is through this old Southern land of plenty that Henry Ford plans building a city seventy-five miles long, in which employment will be given thousands of men. To pass through the Tennessee valley now one can scarcely vision the broad acres cut into streets and peopled by busy thousands. Yet if Ford is awarded the Muscle Shoals project there is little doubt that he will carry out his fine plan of building a great industrial city in Alabama which will be unique among the cities of the world, for it will be both urban and suburban, having the throb of a manufacturing center and the restful aspect of a city of ample home plots.

But interest in Ford's acquisition of Muscle

Shoals is not due to his city-building plans so much as to his employment-giving plans. The statement was made in a news story in the New York World Thursday that unemployment in New York is greater today than it ever has been. Bread lines are longer, temporary quarters where idle, friendless, destitute men are housed over night, are more crowded, and available jobs for the idle are fewer than at any time this winter. Over much of the country unemployment, which for a time showed signs of decreasing, has made a sudden and alarming increase. For some unaccountable reason there appears to be a greater number of able-bodied men idle now than there should be and a greater number than anyone had an idea there would be.

Mr. Ford says that he can and will end unemployment in this country if he gets the Muscle Shoals project. He says he will provide work, not for thousands, but for millions. This will be possible, for at Muscle Shoals will be developed cheap power so abundant that innumerable manufacturing plants would find it easy to operate at a profit, giving work to great numbers, and the Ford industries, always large, would be larger at Muscle Shoals than anywhere else. It would not be difficult for Mr. Ford to build a city 75 miles long in the Tennessee Valley, nor will it be impossible for him to provide employment for millions.

Gigantic as are the Ford plans, they all are feasible. He is promising to do only what it is possible to do with unlimited electric power and unlimited opportunity for expansion. Any man probably could do it as well as Mr. Ford if he knew how, had the capital and the will to do it. Mr. Ford has all of these and because he has them, people believe he will do as he promises, and the people as a whole are eager for his bid for Muscle Shoals to be accepted.

It will be a novel sight to see the fine old plantations of the Tennessee Valley converted into factory sites and city streets, with innumerable homes lining thoroughfares and the roar of traffic filling the air, where now only is the song of birds. —Anniston Star.

With the great idleness extant over the country and the fact that there are many honest people who would like to work in order to make an honest living, it should behoove those in charge of the public road construction of the state and county to begin at the very earliest moment possible in order that these may have a chance to labor and live. Those who are secure in good positions where remunerative work is at hand can scarcely appreciate the plight which many of their fellow men are in who have no job.

The impediments that are constantly being thrown in the way of progress on the Ford bid is reasonably nauseating to the people back home. It has now become merely a question of Yes or No. To continue to have these long drawn out negotiations, when the matter has been threshed out clearly during the six months preceding is a waste of valuable time and keeps valuable industries from beginning to function along helpful lines to those who worst need it.

The senior senator from Alabama was not long in making his presence felt in the senate when freed from the duties of the armament conference. He is a power and we all knew it, therefore we wanted to see him get into action.

There seems to be very little opposition either in the house or senate to the farmer's bloc committee getting the Ford offer referred to them. They, and the millions they represent, are to be the chief beneficiaries, and all others incidentally.

The race is not always to the swift. There is a certain element of steady performance that counts mightily. The hare and the tortoise for instance.

Most of us are not blessed with the gift of continuance. We generally quit off where the other that has watched has gained enough ideas to take hold and "carry on."

Good intentions housed within the intellect and refused exit therefrom never function. Turn them loose and the mystic forces will contribute their share in helping them to accomplish.

Just and perfect is attributed only to one man; there may have been others who made a stagger toward that end, but the fulfillment of it has never been recorded.

Women's eyes have caused more deaths than poison gas, declares Billy Sunday. O, Death where is thy sting?

Now we know spring is almost here; garden seed are now beginning to arrive from Washington, D. C.

In every locality there has always been a few faithful souls who keep the fires burning at the altar of right.

Rectitude and right strayed a long ways from home during the few frenzied years of high finance, and are just now getting back.

Lawlessness is expressed in that don't care feeling that has been running rampant for some time.

All that goes up is sure to come down; but all that goes down stays down, unless some human or divine agency raises it up.

Congressman Harris, of Georgia, has been a constant and consistent advocate of the Ford offer. He is but heeding the people he represents.

They who can labor and wait are the ones to whom the victory belongs.

Expediency is the road through which many of the excuses we offer find easy access.

When the women get into active politics the men now in office will meet formidable opponents.

The rule of reason is amplified by reasonable thought.

President Against Bonds For Bonus

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Despite the desire of Republican members of the senate finance committee to discard the house plan for raising revenue for a soldier bonus through direct taxation, and to substitute a bond issue, President Harding and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon have decided that the bond issue plan is not feasible, it was stated officially at the white house this afternoon.

It was also learned officially that President Harding is unalterably opposed to the special taxes which the house ways and means committee proposes to levy to raise $350,000,000 to pay the soldier bonus. It is understood, however, that the President still favors the general sales tax as a method for obtaining the necessary funds for the bonus.

Both witnesses continued to give testimony and submit exhibits in support of the proposed schedules which the railroads have requested the commission to make effective in Alabama in lieu of the present rates. A large number of exhibits were filed which included comparisons between intrastate rates of other states and the rates which the railroads are willing to establish in Alabama.

Here's a Job For An Eskimo

In these days when there is considerable unemployment, any advertisement for help is welcomed, but an advertisement for an Eskimo is a little bit unusual, particularly in Alabama. But that's just what has happened. The Decatur Ice Cream and Creamery company today advertised for the service of an Eskimo. The company apparently realized it might prove difficult to get a real Eskimo, so the advertisement says someone who looks like an Eskimo may do.

APPEAL IS MADE IN AUBURN DRIVE

The following appeal for aid in the Greater Auburn drive was made today by W. J. Garnett, chairman of the publicity committee:

"Auburn's needs and ours. A state is known by its great men. Greater Auburn means Greater Alabama. A million dollars is necessary to meet Auburn's vital needs for building and equipment. A campaign has been inaugurated to raise this money to maintain and improve her unparalleled record for service. This can only be done by raising every penny of the entire amount and when you learn this wonderful record of Auburn's has been accomplished in the face of such handicaps as inadequate equipment and lack of dormitories and housing conditions, let me say right here, some of these students are actually living in tents—there's food for thought—every man and woman in the state who is loyal to Auburn will come forward with his or her part. Be ready for the committee when they call, and before the allotted time for the campaign is over, the quota will have been raised and Auburn will continue to occupy the high position she has a right to. What are you going to do with Auburn. That's your question and my question. Let the emotion of your better self be your guide. Help to make it the kind of school you would like for your boy to attend. You may make your subscriptions payable in three annual installments."

WORLEY PAROLED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 14.—(Special)—M. L. Worley, of Morgan county, who began service November 16, 1920, after having been convicted of forgery, was given a parole by Governor Kilby today. His release was recommended by the state board of pardons. In each case Worley was given an indeterminate term of from two years to 25 months.

She Refused Him

"I was engaged to the prettiest little doll in Indiana, but my stomach and liver trouble had made me so crummy that she broke it off. I tried all kinds of medicine and doctors and got no relief. The gas blew me up like a porcupine and I had awful colic attacks. Finally I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has certainly fixed me up fine. I am now as good as ever." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. BIG MAJORITIES ARE RETURNED IN FAVOR OF 2 AMENDMENTS

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 14.—Eighty-three of every one hundred votes cast in the special election January 30 were in favor of the $25,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a system of public roads, according to official returns from all counties canvassed by William P. Cobb, secretary of state, and Harwell G. Davis, attorney general, Monday afternoon. The amendment giving soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the world war the right to vote without paying poll taxes until October 1, 1923, received only 1,800 votes more than the bond issue.

The total vote cast for the highway bonds was 111,524 and the vote against it was 22,918. The vote for the poll tax amendment was 113,384 and the vote against it was 17,488.

One of the greatest surprises shown by the official count was that Houston county gave a majority against the good roads amendment. Early returns indicated that Houston had gone for the amendment and that only Geneva had gone against it. Houston voted 921 for the road amendment and 1,073 against it. Geneva gave 644 for it and 793 against it. Every county in the state gave a majority for the poll tax exemption, though in a great many cases the majority was reduced from that given two years ago. Every county in the state showed a smaller majority for the highway amendment than that given two years ago with the possible exception of Mobile.

Governor Kilby issued proclamations Monday afternoon declaring both

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your neighbor.

Plenty of Albany evidence of their worth.

Mrs. F. B. Napps, 609 Fourth Ave., Albany, says: "At the time I used Doan's Kidney Pills, I was generally run-down. My kidneys were weak and caused much annoyance and my back would hurt terribly any time I attempted to do any sweeping or dusting. The pains extended into my shoulder blades and through the back of my neck and top of my head. Reading good accounts of Doan's Kidney Pills, led me to try them. I was more than pleased with the results and one box entirely cured me. I am glad to tell others of this remedy."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Napps had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

would be on exhibition throughout the entire ten days, and that one reel especially would show how nitrate is taken from the air at the nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

It is planned that a wireless station be set up with a magna box attached, so that a whole room full can hear messages from all parts of the county during the exposition. Among those who spoke earnestly on the great possibilities of the exposition were: S. L. Malone, who has donated the use of all the upper rooms of his building covering an entire block; V. R. Shelton, A. H. Hoff, J. H. Johnson, Paul Morrison, J. P. Matlock, Frank G. Cook, A. H. Kelley, Webb Ipenke, W. W. Garnett, Henry Davis, W. W. Rahm, and others.

J. D. Wood, farm demonstrator of Franklin county, telegraphed here today from Russellville saying his county would have a mineral exhibit and that Dr. John Clark, of Franklin county, will be in charge.

"Be sure and reserve space for us," the message said.

AUBURN NEWS

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 14.—(Special) With a few exceptions the program is complete and arrangements are rapidly being made for Auburn's Golden Jubilee on Wednesday, February 22, when two hundred or more leading Alabamians will spend the day in equipment and otherwise take part in a program calculated to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in true Auburn style.

All plans are being made under the immediate supervision of Dr. Dwight Dowell who says that those who come to Auburn that day will be kept busy every minute from the time the fast New York and New Orleans limited train No. 38 stops at the station that morning at 7:46 by stopping to discharge passengers until they board a late afternoon train for Montgomery and other points.

The present plan calls for those coming from Birmingham and North Alabama to leave Birmingham in special Pullmans on L. & N. train No. 3 at four o'clock on the afternoon of the 21st arrive Montgomery at 7 p.m. on the same day to take part in Auburn night in Montgomery and leave for Auburn early on the morning of the 22nd.

Immediately after arriving at Auburn the party will have breakfast in Smith Dining Hall followed by an inspection of the buildings and grounds. From 10 to 10:45 an impressive military review will be staged, after which Langdon Hall will be the scene of action until 12:30. During this time Gen. Robert L. Bullard, an alumnus of Auburn of the class of '92 will speak on "The Spirit of Auburn," and Dr. Melvin A. Branford, president, Beloit College, Beloit, Wisconsin, "Education and Service."

Governor Thos. E. Kilby has been invited to serve as chairman of the program in Langdon Hall and the indications are that he will accept the invitation.

The period from 12:30 to 2:15 will be luncheon period during which different guests will be called on for impromptu talks.

Following the luncheon the championship football game will be witnessed for a short time at the conclusion of which the party will leave for Tuskegee Institute to see the famous school for negroes there and take part in whatever program that may be arranged. The party will leave Tuskegee in time to catch the 6 o'clock train for Montgomery where a general dispersal will be made.

Those from Birmingham and North Alabama traveling in special Pullmans will spend the night in their berths and be carried on to Birmingham on the Pen-American on the morning of the 23rd.
